For the Love of Tidy	For the Love of Tidy is Chicago's first professional organizing consultancy specializing in the KonMari Method™ of tidying up. We help clients put their home, mind, and life in order once and for all through this revolutionary technique, based on the Japanese art of decluttering and organizing made popular by Marie Kondo's bestselling book The Life-Changing Magic of Tidying Up. The method focuses on what you choose to keep (does it "spark joy?"), rather than what or how much you discard, donate or sell. For the Love of Tidy provides in-home KonMari Tidying Lessons and virtual Joy Checks to those committed to changing their life by tackling clutter comprehensively. Viewed as a permanent solution to creating and maintaining a clutter free living environment, tidying lessons that address clothing, books, papers, komono (miscellaneous) and sentimental items make up a special, one-time Tidying Series, executed over a six month period. Decluttering by category, rather than room, through a lens of joy leaves clients feeling empowered to live their lives efficiently, moving in the direction of their true passion, purpose and joy.
